U. S. Steel Common Shows Persistent Strength in Face of Heavy Selling, 20,000 Shares Changing Hands at Close of Session.

BY BROADAN WALL. NEW YORK, April 18.—Trading in the stock market today was confined to three or four issues, and the dealings were largely professional.

United States Industrial Alcohol displayed quiet strength. The high price for the stock was maintained in the face of heavy selling of a report that a syndicate had formed to take over the remaining shares held by bankers for the United States.

Dealin in International Mercantile Marine certificates was a feature of the day's trading. The price of the preferred shares advanced at one time, but the price of the common shares was lost in the decline.

Among commission houses, the sentiment appeared to prevail that there were more apt to find a continuation of conditions in price than a revival of activity in speculation.
